Celebrate Tampa Bay Water Days at MOSI!

TAMPA, Fla. (March 20, 2023) – The Museum of Science and Industry (MOSI) will be hosting the Second Annual Tampa Bay Water Days event this Saturday, March 25th from 10am to 3pm. The event is completely FREE and fun for the entire family!

Tampa Bay Water Days was created to celebrate water conservation, environmental stewardship, and storm water management with fun activities, experiments, guided nature walks, demos, and more! Water Days is a family-friendly, fun, and educational outdoor event completely free to the public. The first 1000 guests to pre-register will also receive free general admission tickets to the Museum of Science and Industry the day of the event. You must preregister for the event at 2023 Tampa Bay Water Days Registration, Sat, Mar 25, 2023 at 10:00 AM | Eventbrite

“Water sustainability and the environmental issues surrounding it, impact all of us here in the Tampa Bay region. It is our hope that Water Days at MOSI creates space for experts and the public to come together in order to empower our community and especially young minds by sharing knowledge and resources in a fun and engaging way” said Kathryn Ecsedy, Manager of Group and Outreach Programs at MOSI

This event is made possible because of the generous support of Tampa Bay Regional Planning Council and Tampa Bay Water!
